bat into it and across three yards of paint from its side. The Russian aviator looked at the Frenchmen, and the Frenchmen laughed and nodded and chattered, and apparently expressed their admiration for the bit of friendly wit.

It was for war, this fellow. The collar of his uniform was heavily flowered with gold and a saber dangled to his spurred heels. He wore glasses and about his eyes were calm, ardent expressions that one expects in professors at colleges.

A QUEER ADJUTANT. An Army Incident of Interest in More Ways Than One. "It has never been in the newspapers," remarked the retired army officer, referring to something he had been saying as the reporter of the Washington Star joined the group.

Runs from Home in His Night Clothes and Jumps in a Deep Well with a Rope Around His Neck. ARCHDALE, Neb., May 9.—(Special Telegram)—Thomas Stone, a demoted farmer, living seven miles north of this place, escaped from his home in his night clothes about 3 o'clock this morning and succeeded in getting entirely away from his attendants. He ran for about a mile, and when found was sitting on the curb of a well, which is slightly feet deep, with one end of a rope fastened around his neck and the other end fastened to a beam across the well curb.

BURIED BY KNIGHTS TEMPLAR. Funeral of John Dwyer is Attended by Many Friends. Stephen Crane's Impressions of the Troubled Continent Upholding Mosaic Rule in the Levant. (Copyright 1897, by S. S. McClure Co.) ON HIRSH STEAMER GUADIANA, APRIL 1897.—Leaving Marseilles, the passengers of this ship had no intention of anything more than a tedious voyage to Athens without a pause, but circumstances furnished us with a mild digression. In the early morning of the fourth day a ponderous headland appeared to the north and we knew it to be the expected glimpse of Crete.

Experts Say It Can Be Cultivated in Nebraska. TOBACCO GROWN IN NEBRASKA. A cigar made of Nebraska tobacco and of Nebraska grown tobacco may cause the Nebraska smoker to shrug his shoulders in contemplation, but there are such things, and it is said they are not bad ones, either. There are many cigar factories in this state, and the cultivation of tobacco is growing here. The first crop of tobacco in Nebraska was raised in 1895, and it was a success. The crop was sold for $100,000, and it was a success.
